

CRIMSON

by

Pedro Filipe Vasconcelos

INT. HOUSE, MAIN ENTRANCE

It's dark, red lights can be seen coming through the small window, suddenly a white light is seen and the door is seen being meddled with, it takes a while but the lock is picked and the door opens, a figure slowly enters holding up a small flashlight and a gun. He quickly shuts the door behind him and keeps going forward.

INT. HOUSE, LIVING ROOM

The man then enters what looks like the living room, analyses it and then sees a family picture, he grabs it and looks at it with a sad face. The family picture has the eyes of all the members painted red. He takes the picture out of the Picture frame and saves it in his pocket. A poster is seen on the wall of the house, it reads "The Red shall banish darkness. Join Crimson Society and be part of something greater" He leaves the room and then decides to head upstairs.

INT. HOUSE, MAIN STAIRS

There he finds a door and decides to look through the keyhole.

INT. HOUSE, MAIN BEDROOM

He sees a man sitting down on the floor, legs crossed finishing a book, red lights are coming from his face, once he finishes he puts it in front of him then slowly looks at his watch and then starts re-reading the book from the start at an inhumane speed.

INT. HOUSE, MAIN STAIRS

A sound of screeching wood is heard from the man who is peaking.

INT. HOUSE, MAIN BEDROOM

The red-eyed figure stops reading. Then quickly turns his head to face the door.

INT. HOUSE, MAIN STAIRS

The unknown man jumps backwards with this, scared, as he hears steps coming closer to the door and then, silence. He leans forward once again to peak through the key-hole but there is no one inside anymore. The man gets up and keeps moving forward through the house avoiding anymore rooms.

INT. HOUSE, CORRIDOR

He walks down the corridor and sees the bathroom he smiles and then keeps walking closer to it, however sounds start coming from the door behind him, his face is of pure panic, he ignores the sounds as he keeps moving forward but then, he listens to the voice of a child.

CHILD

Help

He is unsure of what he heard but he makes the decision to go back, slowly opens the door.

INT. HOUSE, ATTIC

The Man goes up the stairs and searches around to see if he can find anyone, he is relieved by not finding anyone and glad to have found a first aid kit, as he is going back down the stairs however, a red light starts slowly blinking and then he hears the laugh of a child. He is shocked, he doesn't know how to act but decides to slowly turn around, as he does so, he faces the red light that blinks harder than ever, his face of panick is mixed with sadness as a tear drops from his eye. The man shoots, and then shoots 3 more times, blood smeared all over his face.

CUT TO:

INT. HOUSE, TOILET

He is panicking washing his face and then closely analysing his eyes in the mirror, he cries and laughs and shakes in fear, he sits on the toilet with the picture in one hand and the gun in the other, he is unsure of what he is doing and is crying more than ever, then he grabs a pen and draws on the picture. The man then finally sighs, shaking he puts the gun inside his mouth and shoots. The picture is then seen in the ground blood running through it, with the kid crossed and a new figure with red eyes also crossed. The lights blink and in the light there is no blood, and the picture looks normal but the kid is missing, a hand reaches for the picture.

CUT TO BLACK

END